VESSEL

Potter Rick Rudd curates and protects the nation's fragile crafted legacies within the walls of Quartz, Museum of Studio Ceramics. The film follows the construction of one of Rick's latest works in intimate detail, silently capturing his hands forming the clay into another masterpiece. Long past his retirement, Rick reaches out for help to realise his vision and find release from the daily challenges of single-handedly running a world-class museum.

A new feature length documentary from the makers of YOU CAN'T JUST SELL RECORDS, SET IN STONE, and RICHARD WOTTON: MOMENTS LATER.
